Aboriginal Culture: The Oldest Living Culture

Target Audience: B1+ / B2
Time: 45-50 minutes
Approach: CLIL + Socio-cultural approach
Lesson Objectives:

- Educational (Content): Understand the concept of "Dreamtime" through the story of Thukeri and learn the respectful terminology for Indigenous Australians.
- Linguistic (Language): Practice vocabulary related to beliefs and ethics (ancestor, sacred, greed, deceit, curse), and develop listening skills for specific details and metaphors.
- Socio-cultural: Develop cultural empathy by analyzing the moral lessons of Indigenous stories and discussing the importance of respectful terminology (Dialogue of Cultures).

Stage	Stage aim	Timing	Procedure	Aids and materials
Warm-up	Activate visual literacy and spark curiosity.	5 min	Teacher shows a piece of Aboriginal dot painting or a picture of the Australian outback. Ask: "What do you know about the Aboriginal people of Australia? How old is their culture?"	Picture of Aboriginal dot painting.
Controlled Practice	Present target vocabulary and check understanding.	7 min	Students match words: ancestor, sacred, greed, deceit, curse. Look at the title "Dreamtime". Is it about sleeping and dreaming, or something else?	Vocabulary Match, presentation slide
Listening	Develop listening skills for specific information.	15 min	Students listen to the first part of the podcast (up to the story). They answer: "What is Dreamtime? What do these stories do?" Students listen to the story of Thukeri. They complete a "Story Map" (Who? What	Audio Minipod: Welcome to Aboriginal English 3 | SBS did they do? What was the punishment? What is the lesson?).

Post-Listening	Develop critical thinking and cultural empathy.	8 min	Teacher asks: "Kevin uses a coffee metaphor to explain skin color. What does he mean by 'No matter how much milk you put in coffee, it's still coffee'?" Discuss how this challenges racial stereotypes.	Board, presentation slide
Freer Practice	Apply knowledge and develop speaking skills through the "Dialogue of Cultures"	10 min	Round Table Discussion. Students discuss: "Why is it important to use the right words (First Nations people vs. old terms)? How do we show respect to indigenous cultures in our country?"	Discussion question
Homework and feedback	Summarize, consolidate, and reflect.	5 min	"What is the most important lesson you learned from the Thukeri story?" Homework: Write a short paragraph (50 words): "Why is it important to preserve the stories of indigenous people?"	Notebooks

Match the words (1-5) with their definitions (A-E).

Kevin says: "No matter how much _____ you put in coffee, it's still _____."
What does he mean by this? How does it relate to Aboriginal identity?

Terminology.
What is the most respectful modern term Kevin recommends using for Aboriginal people?

Round Table Discussion

Task: Work in groups. Discuss the questions below.

1. The Story's Lesson: The story of Thukeri teaches about the dangers of greed and lying. Why do you think these values (sharing, honesty) are so important in indigenous cultures?
2. The Power of Words: Kevin explains that the term "First Nations people" is more respectful than older terms. Why is it important to use the right words when talking about other cultures?
3. Dialogue of Cultures: Does your country have indigenous people or minority groups? How are they usually called? What can we learn from the Australian experience of respect?

Useful phrases for discussion:
